FOREWORD by PATTON OSWALT

The first Calvin and Hobbs collection I owned was the third one published — The Essential Calvin and Hobbes. Charles M. Schulz wrote the introduction. I've probably thought about it at least once a month since I read it, in 1988. It was the same year I started stand-up.

I can't quote you his exact phrasing. But the essence of the man, his quiet expertise and wordless knowledge, which he'd absorbed so deeply that he could only parcel it out in cryptic clues, was there.

The way he wrote about how Bill Watterson really knew how to draw splashes of water, and bedside tables, and how Calvin's shoes looked like "little dinner rolls." He said something to the effect that these small, throwaway details might not seem important, taken by themselves. But together, and without drawing any attention to the fact, they made up the crucial elements of any successful comic strip.

Reading these two years' worth of Peanuts, 1985 to 1986, I understand better what Schulz was talking about. At this point, Schulz had been drawing Peanuts for 35 years. He had another 15 to go before he capped his pen and said goodbye.

The existential angst of Charlie Brown, the philosophical curiosity of Linus, the brashness of Lucy, and the near-savant imagination and playfulness of Snoopy now had to contend with America staggering towards the millennium. Notice how the first strip in this collection has to do with answering machines. Keep in mind, this was a comic strip that, when it started, featured children using nib pens with desktop inkwells at school.

There are also references to "Baby on Board" signs, ghetto blasters (which become "Beagle blasters" in the Peanuts universe) and, most troubling, endless talk of attorneys and lawsuits. Snoopy even adds a new make-believe character to his repertoire which has, to this point, included the WWI Flying Ace, the passionate Unpublished Author, and Joe Cool. Sadly, his new imaginary persona is a bowtie-wearing, bowler-topped attorney. The one series of strips which does feature the WWI Flying Ace ominously mentions attorneys as well.

Shadow autobiography? How deep was Schulz mired, at this point in his career, in merchandising and broadcast rights and ancillary residuals? Like every other rock band whose first album is about struggle and survival, and whose subsequent works deal with excess, fame and the ennui of it all, even Schulz couldn't escape success.

But, just like he hinted in his Calvin and Hobbes intro, he still held firm to his basic principles. The bedside tables, water splashes, and shoes that look like dinner rolls are all there. Even Snoopy's "beagle blaster" has a spongy, blustering personality all its own.

Charles Schulz wrote a fifty year-long psychological autobiography starring a bald kid and a sentient dog. And he made the water splashes look great.

SCHULZ

HERE'S THE WORLD WAR I FLYING ACE CONFINED TO BED WITH THE TERRIBLE FLU OF 1918...

THE BEAUTIFUL FRENCH WAITRESS FROM A NEARBY CAFE HAS BEEN TAKING CARE OF ME...

MARCIE WON'T BE IN SCHOOL TODAY, MA'AM.. SHE HAS THE FLU...

SHE SAID SHE GOT IT IN FRANCE WHILE TAKING CARE OF A WORLD WAR I FLYING ACE...

YES, MA'AM... SHE'S WEIRD..
SCHULZ
2-20

NO ONE KNOWS WHERE THE FLU EPIDEMIC OF 1918 STARTED, BUT IT SPREAD ALL AROUND THE WORLD...

BEFORE IT ENDED IN 1919, TWENTY MILLION PEOPLE HAD DIED...

ASK THE WORLD WAR I FLYING ACE.. HE WAS THERE...

SCHULZ
I DON'T GIVE INTERVIEWS!

WE'RE ALL SET.. PITCH IT WHEN YOU'RE READY..
3-2
THIS'LL BE GREAT.. WHEN OTHER TEAMS HEAR THAT MY FASTBALL HAS BEEN OFFICIALLY TIMED, THEY'LL BE SCARED TO DEATH...
DID YOU GET IT? DO YOU WANT ME TO THROW ANOTHER ONE?
THAT'S ALL RIGHT.. I THINK WE GOT IT...
SCHULZ

OKAY, TEAM.. WE LOST, BUT LET'S BE GOOD SPORTS ABOUT IT...
LET'S GIVE OUR OPPONENTS A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED "HIP, HIP, HURRAY!"

I HATE LOSING!
I'LL "HIP, HIP," BUT I WON'T "HURRAY!"
THEY SAY THAT MY GREAT-GRANDFATHER WAS ALWAYS EARLY... NO MATTER WHERE HE WENT, HE WAS ALWAYS EARLY...
IF HE WENT TO A BALL GAME OR TO A SHOW, HE ALWAYS GOT THERE EARLY, AND WAS ALWAYS THE FIRST ONE TO LEAVE...
DID HE LIVE TO A RIPE OLD AGE?
3-4
NO, HE LEFT EARLY!
SCHULZ
SO HERE I AM RIDING ON THE BACK OF MY MOM'S BICYCLE...

WE'D ALL BE A LOT HEALTHIER IF WE LISTENED TO OUR BODIES..

"I MEAN, AFTER ALL, NONE OF US IS GETTING ANY YOUNGER, AND I GET TIRED, TOO, YOU KNOW, AND YET WHERE IS ALL THE FUN, AND WHO IS TO SAY, AND WHY, AND.."
Schulz

SO HERE I AM AGAIN RIDING ON THE BACK OF MOM'S BICYCLE..

MOM DOES THE PEDALING AND THE STEERING, AND I DO THE NAVIGATING...

CHARLES M. SCHULZ · 1922 TO 2000

Charles M. Schulz was born November 26, 1922, in Minneapolis. His destiny was foreshadowed when an uncle gave him, at the age of two days, the nickname "Sparky" (after the racehorse Spark Plug in the newspaper strip Barney Google).

Schulz grew up in St. Paul. By all accounts, he led an unremarkable, albeit sheltered, childhood. He was an only child, close to both parents. His eventual career path was nurtured by his father, who bought four Sunday papers every week — just for the comics.

An outstanding student, he skipped two grades early on, but began to flounder in high school — perhaps not so coincidentally at the same time kids are going through their cruelest, most status-conscious period of socialization. The pain, bitterness, insecurity, and failures chronicled in Peanuts appear to have originated from this period of Schulz's life.

Although Schulz enjoyed sports, he also found refuge in solitary activities: reading, drawing, and watching movies. He bought comic books and Big Little Books, pored over the newspaper strips, and copied his favorites — Buck Rogers, the Walt Disney characters, Popeye, Tim Tyler's Luck. He quickly became a connoisseur; his heroes were Milton Caniff, Roy Crane, Hal Foster, and Alex Raymond.

In his senior year in high school, his mother noticed an ad in a local newspaper for a correspondence school, Federal Schools (later called Art Instruction Schools). Schulz passed the talent test, completed the course, and began trying, unsuccessfully, to sell gag cartoons to magazines. (His first published drawing was of his dog, Spike, and appeared in a 1937 Ripley's Believe It or Not! installment.)

After World War II had ended and Schulz was discharged from the army, he started submitting gag cartoons to the various magazines of the time; his first breakthrough, however, came when an editor at Timeless Topix hired him to letter adventure comics. Soon after that, he was hired by his alma mater, Art Instruction, to correct student lessons returned by mail.

Between 1948 and 1950, he succeeded in selling 17 cartoons to the Saturday Evening Post — as well as, to the local St. Paul Pioneer Press, a weekly comic feature called Li'l Folks. It ran in the women's section and paid $10 a week. After writing and drawing the feature for two years, Schulz asked for a better location in the paper or for daily exposure, as well as a raise. When he was turned down on all three counts, he quit.

He started submitting strips to the newspaper syndicates. In the spring of 1950, he received a letter from the United Feature Syndicate, announcing its interest in his submission, Li'l Folks. Schulz boarded a train in June for New York City; more interested in doing a strip than a panel, he also brought along the first installments of what would become Peanuts — and that was what sold. (The title, which Schulz loathed to his dying day, was imposed by the syndicate). The first Peanuts daily appeared October 2, 1950; the first Sunday, January 6, 1952.

Prior to Peanuts, the province of the comics page had been that of gags, social and political observation, domestic comedy, soap opera, and various adventure genres. Although Peanuts changed, or evolved, during the 50 years Schulz wrote and drew it, it remained, as it began, an anomaly on the comics page — a comic strip about the interior crises of the cartoonist himself. After a painful divorce in 1973 from which he had not yet recovered, Schulz told a reporter, "Strangely, I've drawn better cartoons in the last six months — or as good as I've ever drawn. I don't know how the human mind works." Surely, it was this kind of humility in the face of profoundly irreducible human questions that makes Peanuts as universally moving as it is.

Diagnosed with cancer, Schulz retired from Peanuts at the end of 1999. He died on February 12, 2000, the day before his last strip was published (and two days before Valentine's Day) — having completed 17,897 daily and Sunday strips, each and every one fully written, drawn, and lettered entirely by his own hand — an unmatched achievement in comics.
